THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE STAR PLAYER

Jax Carter

Sports Communication

1

A popular football player with a packed travel schedule. He is charming, capable, and tempted to optimize any assignment that does not obviously matter.

STRENGTH
Speaking, leadership, and connecting with people

OBSTACLE
Travel, fatigue, and weak relevance cues

AI RELATIONSHIP
Asks AI for fast drafts and summaries when practice and classes collide.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Speaking, media, and practical leadership; avoids Abstract mathematics and disconnected lab reports.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Sports Communication

THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE STORYWEAVER

Elena Marquez

Creative Writing

2

An aspiring novelist who loves language and interpretation, but finds equations and formulaic reports painfully uninspiring.

STRENGTH
Storytelling, empathy, and original ideas

OBSTACLE
Avoids quantitative subjects and struggles with perfectionism

AI RELATIONSHIP
Uses AI to brainstorm; may eventually accept generated passages instead of crafting her own.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Creative writing, history, literature, and storytelling; avoids Algebra, chemistry, and technical reports.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Creative Writing

THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE PERFECTIONIST

Priya Desai

Biology / Pre-Med

3

An ambitious pre-med student who values excellent work and fears mistakes. Her shortcuts are often about achieving perfect-looking results.

STRENGTH
Discipline, preparation, and scientific curiosity

OBSTACLE
Grade anxiety and a punishing workload

AI RELATIONSHIP
Uses AI to polish answers, prepare study guides, and fill gaps too quickly.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Biology, psychology, and chemistry; avoids Ambiguous reflection tasks and open-ended personal writing.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Biology / Pre-Med

THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE NIGHT SCHOLAR

Marcus Reed

Business Administration

4

A working student balancing shifts, family commitments, and college. He wants every hour of coursework to have a purpose.

STRENGTH
Practical judgment, perseverance, and workplace experience

OBSTACLE
Limited time and unpredictable scheduling

AI RELATIONSHIP
Uses AI as a survival tool when deadlines collide with work.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Applied management, economics, and workplace communication; avoids Long repetitive tasks without visible payoff.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Business Administration

THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE CODE MAGE

Zoe Kim

Computer Science

5

A creative builder who sees AI as a normal part of modern work. Sometimes she confuses producing a functioning result with understanding it.

STRENGTH
Prototyping, debugging, and curiosity about tools

OBSTACLE
Overconfidence in automated output and impatience with writing

AI RELATIONSHIP
Frequently asks coding assistants for complete solutions.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Programming, logic, and engineering problems; avoids Broad discussion prompts and vague reflection requirements.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Computer Science

THE ROLL OF DESTINY · THE EMPATH

Talia Brooks

Psychology / Human Services

6

An insightful listener drawn to helping others. She is engaged when coursework feels human, but formal academic tasks can shake her confidence.

STRENGTH
Listening, interpretation, and considering others' perspectives

OBSTACLE
Uncertainty in academic writing and technical methods

AI RELATIONSHIP
Uses AI to find words and structure when she doubts her own voice.

GEN-ED INTERESTS
Likes Psychology, sociology, and ethical dilemmas; avoids Decontextualized statistics and impersonal technical writing.

YEARS 1–2: General education

YEARS 3–4: Psychology / Human Services